FROM THE DESK OF THE EDITOR IN CHIEF

At about this time in year 2022, I wrote the editorial comment for vol. 5 no. 2 of the Prestige Journal of Education. That publication signaled the closure of our series of publications for 2022 and also gave birth to a new year, 2023. I am now fulfilling the same responsibility of writing editorial comment for yet another last publication of another year. It looks unbelievable that it is already one year after the last one was written. Time, indeed, flies.

It is the excitement of the Editorial Board to announce the successful publication of volume 6 number 2 of the Prestige Journal of Education before the end of the year 2023 as scheduled. This, as usual, marks our last publication for the year. May I therefore, on behalf of the Editorial Board of the Prestige Journal of Education, and the Editorial Board of our sister journal, the Prestige Journal of Counselling Psychology, extend our deep-seated gratitude to all the authors that have published with us within the year. Considering our very meticulous and robust peer review process, and the fact that many articles could not pass through the strict and fine mesh of our peer review system, it will not be out of place to say congratulations to all the authors that have their articles accepted and published in our journals within the year. To those whose articles were turned down within the year, I encourage you not to be despondent, but to learn from the detailed and clear comments of our peer reviewers, and subsequently present articles that meet our standard and quality. We will be happy to receive your refined and high quality articles in the new year.

In this issue of the journal, we have sustained our time-tested tradition of presenting a collection of intellectually rich contents from different authors with different intellectual backgrounds, and from different ivory towers in different locations in Nigeria. The articles feature in this issue are from five of the six geopolitical zones of Nigeria including South South, South East, North Central, North West and North East geopolitical zones of Nigeria. We are happy for this continued expression of national acceptance and a treasured vote of confidence on the journal.

Dear all, as our last prestigious gift to you in the year 2023, I present to you volume 6 number 2 of the Prestige Journal of Education. This issue and all other issues of this journal can be found at <https://openaccessglobal.com>. We can be reached via prestigejournalseries@gmail.com.
